Economic Growth and Development in Africa

Understanding trends and prospects

Horman Chitonge, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Series: Routledge Studies in African Development

This book analyses the accounts of Africa's economic growth and development experiences, including the current Africa Rising Narrative, from multidisciplinary perspectives. It is a critical assessment of the explanations given for the widely acknowledged poor economic growth and development performance in Africa, prior to the 2000s. It uniquely tries to locate African intellectuals and scholars in the construction of Africa's economic growth and development portraits over the years. It also provides a detailed analysis of how the World Bank and the IMF have interpreted and dealt with the African development challenges and experiences.

Governance of the Petroleum Sector in an Emerging Developing Economy

Kwaku Appiah-Adu

Oil exploration in the developing world has been and continues to be a high profile and high risk activity attracting media coverage and stimulating much debate. In Governance of the Petroleum Sector in an Emerging Developing Economy, Professor Kwaku Appiah-Adu has assembled an edited volume that provides insight into critical aspects of this highly sensitive activity. Professor Appiah-Adu's starting point is Ghana, where he has been closely involved in national policy-making. The book makes comparisons between that African country and others as diverse as Trinidad and Tobago, and Norway. The contributors, global experts in their respective fields, explore five critical themes and propose strategies for progress in each. You will find an in-depth analysis relating to: turning oil and gas wealth into sustainable and equitable development; entrenching transparency and stakeholder engagement; effective management of the oil and gas sector; and safeguarding security and the environment.

Industrial Development in Africa

Mapping Industrialization Pathways for a Leaping Leopard

Berhanu Abegaz, College of William and Mary, USA

Industrial Development in Africa critically synthesizes and reframes the debates on African industrial development in a capability-opportunity framework. Unpacking complex and diverse experiences, the chapters look at Africa at several levels: continent-wide, sub-regions on both side of the Sahara and present analytical case studies of twelve representative countries: Egypt, Tunisia, Ethiopia, Kenya, Tanzania, Mauritius, Zimbabwe, South Africa, Ghana, Nigeria, Senegal, and Cote d'Ivoire.

Marketing Management in Africa

Edited by George Tesar, Umeå University, Sweden, Steven W. Anderson, Hassimi Traore and Jens Graff

Marketing Management in Africa focuses on strategies for developing consumer markets in Africa using concepts and techniques from marketing, entrepreneurship, and project management. The authors argue that entrepreneurial activity in Africa is rapid, but limited, and requires a structured approach to drive success. This book will prove a valuable companion to any student of marketing or entrepreneurship with a particular interest in Africa.

The Political Economy of Africa

Edited by Vishnu Padayachee, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa

The Political Economy of Africa aims to fill a major gap in the existing literature by exploring the economy and economics of Africa. The book will adopt a critical approach from a perspective of political economy rather than mainstream economics and the aim is to address the seemingly intractable economic problems of the African continent, and trace their origins, but also always to bring out the instances of successful economic change, and the possibilities for economic revival and renewal.

Climate Change and Agriculture in Africa

Impact Assessment and Adaptation Strategies

Ariel Dinar, Rashid Hassan, Robert Mendelsohn, James Benhin and et al

Series: Earthscan Climate

This landmark book encompasses a comprehensive assessment of the potential economic impacts of future climate change, and the value of adaptation measures in Africa for different zones, regions, countries and farm types. Researchers developed and applied multiple analytical procedures to assess quantitatively how climate affects current agricultural systems in Africa, enabling them to predict how these systems may be affected in the future by climate change under various global warming scenarios, and suggesting what role adaptation could play.

Conservation and Development in Uganda

Edited by Chris Sandbrook, UNEP, UK, Connor Joseph Cavanagh, Norwegian University of Life Sciences, Norway and David Mwesigye Tumusiime, Makerere University, Uganda

Series: Earthscan Conservation and Development

This volume reviews and assesses varied approaches to conservation and development in Uganda, a country whose recent history is characterized by a highly volatile governance and development context and whose extensive protected areas, tropical forests and iconic wildlife (including mountain gorillas) have global significance for biodiversity. It highlights the stakes both for vulnerable human populations in the context of large and growing socioeconomic inequalities, as well as for Uganda's rich, unique, natural environment. It draws out lessons that can be learned from the Ugandan experience for conservation and development practitioners and scholars around the world.

Social Innovation In Africa

A practical guide for scaling impact

Ndidi Okonkwo Nwuneli, LEAP Africa, Nigeria

Series: Routledge Studies in African Development

Encouraged by the emergence and early impact of social innovators on the African Continent, but frustrated by the slow pace of large scale change, this book is focused on filling the knowledge gap among aspiring and emerging social innovators. It lays out the required building blocks, including creating clear mission, vision, and values statements. It presents business models that are demand-driven, simple, and low-cost, with compelling measurement and evaluation tools that leverage technology. It also explores the steps for attracting and retaining talent and financing and forming strategic partnerships with the private, public and nonprofit sectors to foster scaling.

Remembering Turkana

Material Histories and Contemporary Livelihoods in North-Western Kenya

Samuel F. Derbyshire

Series: Routledge Studies in African Archaeology and Cultural Heritage

Remembering Turkana explores aspects of the socio-economic and political history of the Turkana of northern Kenya, examining the making and re-making of the regional economy via the trajectories of socio-material interaction that have structured key practices, relationships and livelihoods over the past century. Traversing Turkana's constituent livelihoods and examining the historical relationships between them in relation to shifting economic, ecological and political factors, the book asks what perspective emerges from an in-depth understanding of the everyday things that have taken part in processes of substantial socio-cultural transformation.

3rd Edition

The History of Africa

The Quest for Eternal Harmony

Molefi Kete Asante, Temple University, USA

Authoritative and comprehensive, this book provides a wide-ranging history of Africa from earliest prehistory to the present day – using the cultural, social, political, and economic lenses of Africa as instruments to illuminate the ordinary lives of Africans. The result is a fresh survey that includes a wealth of indigenous ideas, African concepts, and traditional outlooks that have escaped the writing of African history in the West. The new edition includes information on the recent conflicts in Libya and the Sudan, as well as additional content on the experiences and contributions of women.

Debating African Philosophy

Perspectives on Identity, Decolonial Ethics and Comparative Philosophy

Edited by George Hull, University of Cape Town, South Africa

In African countries there has been a surge of intellectual interest in foregrounding ideas and thinkers of African origin that have been unjustly ignored or marginalized. This book demonstrates the potential for constructive interchange between currents of thought from African philosophy and other intellectual currents within philosophy. Showing how foregrounding Africa can help with the project of renewing and improving the discipline of philosophy worldwide, this book will stimulate and challenge everyone with an interest in philosophy, and is essential reading for upper level undergraduate students, postgraduate students and scholars of African and Africana philosophy.

Religions in Contemporary Africa

An Introduction

Edited by Laura S. Grillo, Georgetown University, USA, Adriaan van Klinken and Hassan J. Ndzovu, Moi University, Kenya

Religions in Contemporary Africa is an accessible and comprehensive introduction to the three main religious traditions on the African continent, African traditional religions, Christianity and Islam. The book provides a historical overview of these important traditions and focuses on the roles they play on African societies today. With social, cultural and political case studies throughout, suggestions for further reading, discussion questions and a list of glossary terms this is the ideal textbook for religion studies and African studies students approaching this subject area for the first time.

Africa Under Neoliberalism

Edited by Nana Poku, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa and Jim Whitman, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa

Series: Contemporary African Politics

Bringing together leading researchers and analysts to examine key questions from a multidisciplinary perspective this book involves a fundamental departure from orthodox analysis which often predicated colonialism as the referent object. Here, three decades of neoliberalism with its complex social and economic philosophy are given primacy. With the changed focus, an elucidation of the relationship between global development and local changes are examined through a myriad of pressing contemporary issues to offer a critical multi-disciplinary appraisal of challenge and change in Africa over the past three decades.

Left Universalism, Africentric Essays

Ato Sekyi-Otu

Left Universalism, Africentric Essays presents a defense of universalism as the foundation of moral and political arguments and commitments. Consisting of five intertwined essays, the book claims that centering such arguments and commitments on a particular place, in this instance the African world, is entirely compatible with that foundational universalism. Ato Sekyi-Otu thus proposes a less conventional mode of Africentrism, one that rejects the usual hostility to universalism as an imperialist Eurocentric hoax.

Real Governance and Practical Norms in Sub-Saharan Africa

The game of the rules

Edited by Tom De Herdt, University of Antwerp, Belgium, and Jean-Pierre OLIVIER de SARDAN, LASDEL, Niamey, Niger

Series: Routledge Studies in African Politics and International Relations

This text interrogates the variety of ways in which state policies and legal norms have been translated into sets of practical norms making up real governance in sub-Saharan Africa. It argues that the concept of practical norms is one of the appropriate tools for an ethnographic investigation on public bureaucracies, interactions between civil servants and users, or the daily functioning of the state in Africa.

Uniting Africa

Building Regional Peace and Security Systems

David J. Francis

Plagued by bloody wars and armed conflicts, political instability, communal violence and displaced persons, and at the mercy of natural catastrophes such as drought and famine, it is not surprising that the Western press has long dismissed Africa as the 'hopeless continent'. In the face of these challenges, Africa today is faced with a stark choice: either unite or perish. The debate on why and how the continent should unite in terms of co-operative peace, security and development is more urgent than at any other time in Africa's post-colonial history. Moving forward from the failure of the earlier, typically idealistic Africa unity project, David Francis demonstrates how peace and security challenges have created the imperative for change. He argues that a series of regional peace and security systems are emerging, and that states that have participated in practical experiments in regional peacekeeping, peace support operations, conflict stabilization/management.

Transforming Multilateral Diplomacy

The Inside Story of the Sustainable Development Goals

Macharia Kamau, Pamela Chasek and David O'Connor

Transforming Multilateral Diplomacy provides the inside view of the negotiations that produced the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Not only did this process mark a sea change in how the UN conducts multilateral diplomacy, it changed the way the UN does its business. This book tells the story of the people, issues, negotiations, and paradigm shifts that unfolded through the Open Working Group (OWG) on SDGs and the subsequent negotiations on the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda, from the unique point of view of Ambassador Macharia Kamau, and other key participants from governments, the UN Secretariat, and civil society.

Boko Haram

Security Considerations and the Rise of an Insurgency

Ono Ekhomu

Boko Haram examines the activities and atrocities of Nigeria's Jihadi terrorist group Boko Haram in the context of global religious fundamentalism and extremism. The book traces the early beginnings of the religious sect, the conversion of its leader to radical Islam in 2002, and the group's campaign of violence. The Nigerian government response is also examined in order to provide critical lessons to counter-terrorism planners, officials and scholars. Coverage focuses on the work done, and what work needs to continue, to make gains to combat, marginalize, and ultimately defeat Boko Haram and resolve the conflict facing Nigeria.

Richard Burgess

Series: Routledge Research in Religion and Development

The Nigerian Pentecostal landscape is one of the most vibrant in Africa, with churches increasingly assuming more prominent roles as they seek to address the social and moral ills of contemporary society. This book examines the contributions of Nigerian Pentecostal churches to development, studying their practices broadly in relation to the intersecting spheres of politics, social service, education, economics, and the media. The book will be of considerable interest to scholars and students with an interest in the intersection between religion and development, and to practitioners and policy makers working in the region.

Peacebuilding in Contemporary Africa

In Search of Alternative Strategies

Edited by Kenneth Omeje

Series: Routledge Studies in African Development

Peacebuilding in Contemporary Africa explores the challenges faced by societies transitioning from armed conflicts to peace in contemporary Africa. It evaluates the effectiveness and outcomes of existing peacebuilding initiatives, and proposes new strategies to facilitate the transition. In particular, the book aims to investigate micro-level conflicts, as they are often disregarded in peacebuilding literature, which tends to focus on macro-level, neo-liberal state reconstruction and peacebuilding efforts. The book provides a much needed perspective from African scholars, and will interest students, researchers, policy makers and practitioners with an interest in promoting peace in Africa.

Peter Drucker

Series: Routledge Classics

How can management be developed to create the greatest wealth for society as a whole? This is the question Peter Drucker sets out to answer in Innovation and Entrepreneurship. A brilliant, mould-breaking attack on management orthodoxy it is one of Drucker's most important books, offering an excellent overview of some of his main ideas. He argues that what defines an entrepreneur is their attitude to change: 'the entrepreneur always searches for change, responds to it and exploits it as an opportunity'. To exploit change, according to Drucker, is to innovate.

The Effective Executive

Peter Drucker

There are already thousands of managers who are avid readers of Peter Drucker's books, this revised Classic Collection will establish many more. He identifies five talents as essential to effectiveness, and these can be learned; Intelligence, imagination and knowledge may all be wasted in an executive job without the acquired habits of mind that convert these into results. How these can be developed forms the main body of the book. The author ranges widely through the annals of business and government to demonstrate the distinctive skill of the executive. He turns familiar experience upside down to see it in new perspective. The book is full of surprises, with its fresh insights into old and seemingly trite situations.

The Essentials of Project Management

Dennis Lock, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Stanford University School of Medicine, CA

Series: The Essentials of Project and Programme Management

In recent years organizations of all kinds have learned that project working, once considered significant only for engineering and construction companies, can help to ensure that the intended benefits of business change will be realized in full and on time. This development means that more people than ever before need to understand the basic process, language and purpose of project working. That awareness is important not only for those actually engaged in project work, in all sectors of industry and commerce, but also for senior managers, project sponsors and the other stakeholders. The fourth edition of Essentials of Project Management is the junior complement to Dennis Lock's comprehensive, successful and encyclopaedic textbook, Project Management (now in its Tenth Edition). Essentials provides a concise, straightforward account of the principles and techniques of project management, designed to meet the needs of the business manager or student.

The Goal

Eliyahu M. Goldratt and Jeff Cox

Written in a fast-paced thriller style, The Goal is the gripping novel which is transforming management thinking throughout the Western world. The author has been described by Fortune as a 'guru to industry' and by Businessweek as a 'genius'. It is a book to recommend to your friends in industry - even to your bosses - but not to your competitors. Alex Rogo is a harried plant manager working ever more desperately to try and improve performance. His factory is rapidly heading for disaster. So is his marriage. He has ninety days to save his plant - or it will be closed by corporate HQ, with hundreds of job losses. It takes a chance meeting with a colleague from student days - Jonah - to help him break out of conventional ways of thinking to see what needs to be done. The story of Alex's fight to save his plant is more than compulsive reading.

What went wrong with foreign aid? Despite many positive changes, poverty is not history, and the very idea of foreign aid is now under sustained attack by administrations around the world. The Future of Aid calls for a wholesale restructuring of the aid project, a totally new approach fit for the challenges of the 21st century: Global Public Investment.

Engagingly written by a well-known expert in the field, this book sets out a powerful roadmap for an evolution in the way that we think about aid, global cooperation, and the need to back up our ambitious global objectives with public money.

10 Mindframes for Visible Learning

Teaching for Success

John Hattie, University of Melbourne and Klaus Zierer, University of Augsburg, Germany

The original Visible Learning research concluded that one of the most important influencers of student achievement is how teachers think about learning and their own role. Mindframes for Visible Learning defines the 10 behaviours or mindframes that teachers need to adopt to maximise student success. These powerful mindframes that should underpin every action in school are founded on the belief that teachers are evaluators, change agents, learning experts and seekers of feedback constantly engaged with dialogue and challenge. This practical guide includes questionnaires, checklists and exercises to help schools implement Hattie's mindframes and maximise success.

Understanding Learners' Needs

Steve Chinn, Visiting Professor, University of Derby, UK

Bestselling and award-winning author Steve Chinn challenges many of the long-established methods, beliefs and the culture of maths teaching in this radical new book. His premise is that the way we teach the top 75% of achievers in maths can be improved by using many of the methods and principles that are successful with the bottom 25%. He shows how to adjust the way maths is presented to the learner, looking at the learners' needs first and the maths second, and explains the absolute importance of securing the early learning to set firm foundations for future success. Based on decades of classroom experience and research, this book has the potential to change the way maths is taught forever.

Gary Slapper, NYU London, UK and David Kelly, formerly at Staffordshire University, UK

Series: The Basics

An engaging introduction to one of the most complex areas of modern life. The book introduces both the main components of the legal system - including judges, juries and law-makers - and key areas of law - contract, civil negligence, and criminal law - to provide the uninitiated with an ideal introduction to law. Key questions to be considered include:

How are laws made? How do judges decide cases? What is the exact role of the EU in the legal system? What are your rights and duties under contract law? What is a crime and what are criminal defences?

Throughout the book, a wide range of contemporary cases are examined to relate key legal concepts to familiar examples and real world situations.

Human Nature in Social Isolation

David Cohen

This book reflects on the unprecedented changes to our lives and the impact on our human behaviour as we lived through social isolation during the global Covid-19 pandemic. From sociable creatures of habit, we were forced into a period of uncertainty and risk, physically separated from families and friends. Combined with guidance and coping strategies for lockdown, top psychologist, David Cohen, explores the impact of lockdown on our relationships, our children, our mental health and our daily lives, examining the psychology behind our behaviour during this unusual time to discover what we can learn about human nature.

The Psychology of Fashion provides a succinct overview of how our thinking and behavior is affected by the fashion industry. From how clothing can affect our cognitive processes to the way retail environments manipulate consumer behavior, the book takes an evidence-based approach that separates myth from reality. It examines how fashion design can undermine healthy body image, and how psychology can inform a more sustainable perspective on the production and disposal of clothing. Including further reading for those wishing to explore the topic further, this is the ideal introduction for anyone interested in this fascinating area.

The Psychology of Grief

Richard Gross, Full-time academic author
 Series: The Psychology of Everything

Everyone, at some point in their lives, experiences bereavement and the feelings of grief that accompany it. The Psychology of Grief offers not only an overview of how psychologists have sought to explain this most human emotion, but also the way grief is understood in different social, religious and historical contexts. Including individual accounts, the book examines how we attempt to make sense of the world in the aftermath of losing a loved one, as well as the social rules and norms which frame that process. An intelligent and humane account, the book debunks myths around the 'stages' of grieving, as well as examining the evidence for personal growth in the wake of bereavement.

The Psychology of Terrorism

Neil Shortland

Series: The Psychology of Everything

What is terrorism? Can anyone be radicalized? How can we respond to terrorist acts? The Psychology of Terrorism seeks to explain why some acts of violence are considered terrorism, and others are not, and why some individuals may be more susceptible to engaging in terrorist behavior. Debunking myths and lazy stereotypes, the book delves into some of the most shocking atrocities of our times to discuss the complex psychological characteristics of individual terrorists, organised groups, and their acts. Whilst there is no simple solution, The Psychology of Terrorism shows us that a growing reverse radicalization movement and modern interventionist techniques can give us hope for the future.

The Psychology of Sex

Meg John Barker, The Open University, UK

Series: The Psychology of Everything

The Psychology of Sex plugs the gap between conventional wisdom about sex and what we know about sex and sexuality from academic research in this area. It draws on psychology in its broadest sense, arguing that for a complete understanding of sex we need to study the history of human sexual behaviour, and the social context in which it happens, as well as considering individual human experience and the way the body and brain work. The book looks at some of the most common myths about sex and sexuality - e.g. surrounding sexual identity, sex drive, sex addiction, "normal" and "abnormal" sex - and shows how recent research can help the way we think about all these things.

To help advance global surgery as a public health intervention, providers and students require a practical, hands-on manual to train them to provide safe and effective surgery and anesthesia in resource-limited settings. This guide provides in-depth instruction on epidemiology and ethics surrounding surgical services, and on anesthesia, non-trauma surgery, and trauma surgery. With contributions from a group of culturally and academically diverse clinicians, each chapter is enriched by at least one commentary from a surgeon or anesthetist in a low- or middle-income country (LMIC) who shares first-hand perspectives on the realities and complexities of providing surgical care in these settings with limited resources.

How To Do Primary Care Research

Edited by Felicity Goodyear-Smith and Robert Mash, Division of Family Medicine and Primary Care, Stellenbosch University, Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences

Series: WONCA Family Medicine

This practical 'How To' guide takes the reader step-by-step through designing, conducting and disseminating primary care research, a growing discipline internationally. The majority of health care issues are experienced by people in community settings, who are not adequately represented by hospital-based research. There is therefore a great need to upskill family physicians and other primary care workers and academics to conduct community-based research to inform best practice.

Aimed at emerging researchers, including those in developing countries, this book also addresses cutting edge and newly developing research methods.

Handbook of Primary Care Ethics

Andrew Papanikitas and John Spicer, Health Education England, UK

With chapters revolving around practical issues and real-world contexts, this Handbook offers much-needed insights into the ethics of primary healthcare. An international set of contributors address a challenging array of topics. These range from the issues arising in primary care interactions, to working with different sources of vulnerability among patients, from contexts connected with teaching and learning, to issues in relation to justice and resources. The book is both interdisciplinary and inter-professional, including not just 'standard' philosophical clinical ethics but also approaches using the humanities, clinical empirical research, management theory and much else besides.

Introduction to Anatomy and Physiology for Healthcare Students

David Sturgeon, Canterbury Christ Church University, UK

This book provides a highly accessible introduction to anatomy and physiology. Written for students studying the subject for the first time, it covers the human body from the atomic and cellular levels through to all the major systems and including chapters on blood and immunity and homeostasis. By the end of each chapter, the reader will understand and be able to explain how the structures and systems described are organised and contribute to the maintenance of health. Complete with self-test questions, full colour illustrations and a comprehensive glossary, it is an essential read for all nursing and healthcare students in both further and higher education.

Healing Plants of Nigeria

Ethnomedicine and Therapeutic Applications

Anselm Adodo, Pax Herbal Clinic & Research Laboratories, Ewu Esan, Edo State, Nigeria and Maurice M. Iwu, Bioresources Development Group, Abuja, FCT, Nigeria

Series: Traditional Herbal Medicines for Modern Times

Healing Plants of Nigeria explores the field of ethnomedicine in Nigeria. It documents the plants that are traditionally used by the local population, history of local use and the traditionally beliefs around the use. Importantly, it argues for a return to a community-based approach to medicine where the health of the individual is closely aligned with that of the community. Community in this perspective includes plants, animals and the environment.

Levick's Introduction to Cardiovascular Physiology

Neil Herring, Associate Professor & BHF Intermediate Fellow, University Oxford, Tutor & Fellow, Keble College and Lecturer Merton College, Consultant Cardiologist, Oxford University Hospital NHS Foundation Trust. and David J. Paterson, Professor of Cardiovascular Physiology and Head of the Department of Physiology, Anatomy & Genetics, University of Oxford, Oxford, UK

A sound knowledge of cardiovascular physiology is fundamental to understanding cardiovascular disease, exercise performance and many other aspects of human physiology. Cardiovascular physiology is a major component of all undergraduate courses in physiology, biomedical science and medicine, and this popular introduction to the subject is intended primarily for these students. A key feature of this sixth edition is how state-of-the-art technology is applied to understanding cardiovascular function in health and disease. Thus the text is also well suited to graduate study programmes in medicine and physiological sciences.

5th Edition

Human Molecular Genetics

Tom Strachan, Newcastle University, UK and Andrew Read, University of Manchester, UK

Human Molecular Genetics has been carefully crafted over successive editions to provide an authoritative introduction to the molecular aspects of human genetics, genomics and cell biology. Maintaining the features that have made previous editions so popular, this fifth edition has been completely updated in line with the latest developments and remains the 'go-to' book for those studying human molecular genetics or genomics courses around the world. Older technologies such as cloning and hybridization have been merged and summarized, coverage of newer DNA sequencing technologies has been expanded, and powerful new gene editing and single-cell genomics technologies have been added.

Microbiology

A Clinical Approach

Anthony Strelkauskas, Trident Technical College, South Carolina, USA, Angela Edwards, Trident Technical college, US, Beatrix Fahnert, Cardiff University, UK, Greg Pryor, Francis Marion University, US and Jennifer Strelkauskas, Practicing Veterinarian, Oregon and Washington, USA

As with the successful first edition, the new edition of Microbiology: A Clinical Approach is written specifically for pre-nursing and allied health students. It is clinically-relevant throughout and uses the theme of infection as its foundation. In addition to the robust ancillary package for instructors which easily allows them to incorporate the book's unique approach into their lectures, a new online homework platform will be made available separately.

Craig's Soil Mechanics

Jonathan Knappett, University of Dundee, UK and R.F. Craig, University of Dundee, UK

Craig's Soil Mechanics continues to evolve and remain the definitive text for civil engineering students worldwide. It covers fundamental soil mechanics and its application in applied geotechnical engineering from A to Z and at the right depth for an undergraduate civil engineer, with sufficient extension material for supporting MSc level courses, and with practical examples and digital tools to make it a useful reference work for practising engineers.

This new edition now includes restructured chapters and new material, as well as additional worked examples and end-of-chapter problems.

Structural Engineer's Pocket Book: Eurocodes

Fiona Cobb, Consulting Engineer, UK

Now in its third edition, this book forms a comprehensive pocket reference guide for professional and student structural engineers, especially those taking the IStructE Part 3 exam. With stripped-down basic material—tables, data, facts, formulae, and rules of thumb—it is directly usable for scheme design by structural engineers in the office, in transit, or on site. It brings together data from many different sources, and delivers a compact source of job-simplifying and time-saving information at an affordable price.

Learning Engineering Practice

James Trevelyan, The University of Western Australia, Crawley, Australia

This book explains engineering practice, what engineers actually do in their work. The first part explains how to find paid engineering work and prepare for an engineering career. The second part explains the fundamentals of engineering practice, including how to gain access to technical knowledge, how to gain the willing collaboration of other people to make things happen, and how to work safely in hazardous environments. This book has been written for engineering students, graduates and novice engineers. Engineering schools will find the book helpful to help students prepare for professional internships and also for creating authentic practice and assessment exercises.

A Beginner's Introduction

Eugeniy E. Mikhailov, College of William and Mary, Department of Physics, Williamsburg, Virginia, USA

This book offers an introduction to the basics of MATLAB programming to scientists and engineers. The author leads with engaging examples to build a working knowledge, specifically geared to those with science and engineering backgrounds. The reader is empowered to model and simulate real systems, as well as present and analyze everyday data sets. In order to achieve those goals, the contents bypass excessive "under the hood" details, and instead gets right down to the essential, practical foundations for successful programming and modeling.

Nutrition

Maintaining and Improving Health

Geoffrey P. Webb, University of East London, UK

This book contains in-depth and critical reviews of the methods used to evaluate nutritional intakes/status and the observational and experimental used to investigate putative links between dietary factors and health outcome. It covers the role of food as a source of energy and nutrients while discussing the non-nutritional roles of food and the social and psychological factors that influence food choice. Presenting a critical discussion on the value of nutrition research linking specific foods or nutrients to specific diseases encourages students to question the value of some current nutrition research.

A Practical Approach to Motor Vehicle Engineering and Maintenance

Alan Bonnick and Derek Newbold

For students studying at Levels 1 and 2 (MVE NVQ and IMI Technical Award, Certificate and Diploma requirements)

This text covers all the mandatory and popular optional units of the IMI Technical Certificates and NVQ Level 1 and 2 syllabuses, from health and safety regulations to fault finding and replacing components. Fully updated, the book also has vehicle maintenance procedures integrated throughout and follows a clear, logical approach. Illustrations and step-by-step development of theory and practice to make it accessible to all levels.

Advanced Automotive Fault Diagnosis

Automotive Technology: Vehicle Maintenance and Repair

Tom Denton, IMI eLearning Development Manager, UK

This provides all the skills to pass Level 3 and 4 Vehicle Diagnostic courses from IMI, City and Guilds and BTEC, as well as ASE, AUR and other higher level qualifications.

This fifth edition of Advanced Automotive Fault Diagnosis includes new content on diagnostic tools and equipment, with ten totally new case studies. It explains the fundamentals of vehicle systems and components and examines diagnostic principles as well as effective vehicle maintenance and repair. Diagnostics, or fault finding, is an essential part of an automotive technician's work, and as automotive systems become increasingly complex there is a greater need for good diagnostics skills.

Automobile Electrical and Electronic Systems

Tom Denton, IMI eLearning Development Manager, UK

Automobile Electrical and Electronic Systems will help you learn all the skills you need to pass Level 3 vehicle electrical and electronic systems courses or related modules from IMI, City and Guilds and BTEC, and is also ideal for higher level ASE, AUR and other qualifications. As electrical and electronic systems become increasingly more complex and fundamental to the workings of modern vehicles, understanding these systems is essential for automotive technicians. For students new to the subject, this book will help to develop this knowledge, but will also assist experienced mechanics in keeping up with recent technological advances.

Vehicle Electronic Systems and Fault Diagnosis

Allan Bonnick

The average car now contains much more electronic circuitry than would have been the case, even five years ago. This leaves many technicians struggling to keep up with current developments in the repair and maintenance of these electronic systems. Often, texts covering vehicle electronics dwell on unnecessary maths and general electronics principles. This practical guide discusses electronics only within the context of the vehicle system under consideration and thus keeps theory to a minimum.

Carpentry and Joinery 1

Brian Porter and Chris Tooke

The third edition of Carpentry and Joinery 1 is the first in a series of three books which together provide an authoritative but thoroughly practical guide to carpentry and joinery for students following City & Guilds and CITB courses, NVQ candidates, and a wide range of amateurs and professionals.

Carpentry and Joinery 1 deals with the fundamentals of the subject from topics such as timber and wood preservation and protection, to a detailed outline of the tools available and information on the basic woodworking joints, adhesives and fixing devices. Books 2 and 3 show how to apply this fundamental knowledge. Details of craft theory, associated studies and practical procedures are integrated throughout each text.

Work Activities

Chris Tooke

This highly illustrated textbook is written to meet the needs of candidates studying for the NVQ levels 2 and 3 in Carpentry and Joinery, and other courses at this level. Each chapter covers a specific activity such as constructing stairs or windows and includes the selection of produced components, setting out, marking out, assembly and fixing. The book contains references to the companion volume by the same authors (Bench and Site Skills) and to the relevant regulations and standards. Together with Carpentry and Joinery: Bench and Site Skills this book will form an invaluable resource for students long after they qualify.

Pattern Cutting and Making Up

Janet Ward and Martin Shoben

Major changes have occurred in the last few years in the methods of cutting and manufacturing outerwear. Light clothing companies are now manufacturing these heavy garments which have resulted in the deskilling of traditional tailoring methods. Outerwear has consequently assumed much greater importance in light clothing courses and this book - the first of its kind - has been written to reflect these industrial changes. It offers a course of practical and theoretical study which is related to specific garment types and fabrics.
